SUBMARINE'S SUDDEN CHANGE OF COURSE.

NAVAL CRAFT IN MIDDLE COURSE! OF STEAMER TRAFFIC.

TIFFORTS to salvage the wreck of the Poseidon have so far proved unavailing, but it anticipated that, provided the weather is favourable, success will be achieved shortly.

The master of the Yuta to-day relates in detail the circumstances of the collision from the steamer's viewpoint. He declares that the tragic collision was entirely due to a sudden change of course, by the submarine and denies all responsibility for the disaster. The Yuta had a full view of the Poseidon four miles! and substantially fined. away from the point of the collision.

At 12.08 p.m. the Poseidon began to move, gathered speed, and appeared to be crossing the steamer's path, and, according to the international code, had the right of way. The mate, in consequence, turned the steamer to pass round the submarine's stern. At 12,10, the mate, with whistle blasts, veered the course of the Yuta to starboard.

The Poseidon then again! hove-to abruptly, and turned to: the left, apparently intending to cross the way of the steamer.

The crash then became inevitable. The mate, taken aback by have been an emergency measure the manoguvre of the submarine, blew danger blasts and ordered had be been on the bridge at the the steamer astern at full speed. | critical moment .- Reuter.

Rush on Deck.

- At the sound of the dangerblast, said Captain Tycishi, he jumped from the dining table and sprang upon the deck, only to find the Yuta's bow running into the starboard side of the Poseidon.

That was at 12.12 p.m. He lost no time in ordering rope ladders to be thrown out.

The impact was heavy and immediately the seas became spread over with oil, apparently owing to the destruction of the Poseldon's tank.

CHILDREN KIDNAPPED FROM WANCHAL

CASE AGAINST MAN AND WOMAN AT MAGISTRACY.

Steady progress for nine years has been made by the Sacred Heart afternoon, a Chinese woman and a College which is to day one of the man were jointly charged with kidnapping, on separate dates, two small Chinese lads from Hongkong. One of the boys was taken to the Toi Shan District but was subsequently restored to his parents.

Detective Inspector Rozeskwy, of the Wanchai Police Station, pro-secuting, said that on the afternoon of May 27, the mother of the first boy, Chi Yuen, left her son out-side a house in Lee Tung Street whilst she went inside to collect some washing. On her return the boy was missing. The Police were informed and, on hearing that a boy had been taken to Macao, the parents went to the Portuguese Colony while an uncle was detailed to proceed to the Kowloon Railway

It was whilst the uncle was at the Railway Station that he saw the first defendant, the woman, arrive with the missing boy on her back. When questioned, the woman said that the lad did not belong to ! her but that she was carrying him 1 for a man who was already on the train. With the assistance of an official of the railway the woman and the man whom she subsequently pointed, out were both taken to the Water Police Station and later to the Wanchai Police Station. There the woman volunteered to 4 direct the Police to a place in the Toi Shan District where several 1 other boys, in the kidnapping of whom she had been involved, were 3 living. #### FIRE DANGERS.

Issues of grave public importance are raised by the disclosures made in connexion with the disastrous fire in Staunton Street, which resulted in the loss of no fewer than fifteen lives. Doubtless there will be an inquiry into the catastrophe, when much may be heard on the matter of the control of fire-cracker shops, concernwhich it did, and the consequent heavy loss of life, but for the fact that a huge quantity of crackers was stored on the first floor of the premises, right underneath the staircase serving the block. There could surely be nothing mor anomalous than the fact that whilst the law requires crackers exposed for sale to be kept under glass, as a safeguard against explosion or fire, no such stipulation is laid down regarding stocks stance obviously creates a very this connexion. It would seem, from statements made by Mr. Wolfe, that the Fire Brigade de-Committee is opposed to this idea. considerations are secondary importance.

Another point of high importance from the standpoint of protecting the occupants of tenement connexion with the Building Austruction of old property. It has been stated in public print that in State Building has a mast for dirimany instances replacement of old timber floors, stairs and roofs by vessels of the future? Thames cement, concrete has been refused House is prepared to receive seathe ground that whilst the planes on its river front while its buildings cannot be condemned as dangerous structures, the improvements can only be permitted if auch yard space and rear lanes are opened out as would be required in respect of an entirely new building. The idea at the back of this policy is quite understandable, the authorities doubt less hoping thereby to force new construction rather than the patching up of old buildings. We have encountered the same idea in connexion with the installation of the water-flush system. The point which the authorities appear to lose sight of is that there are three, and not two, alternatives involved. If refusal to permit reconstruction of old property meant that new buildings would for a the re-appointment of the Hon. Sir certainty replace the old ones, then the Government policy would Council for a further period of five of Diana? be justified. But what actually years. happens in the majority of cases is that the old property is left untouched. THE HONGKONG HOTEL to one which, so long as it remains unaltered, is a veritable deathtrap. The ideal thing, of course, would be the razing to the ground of all the old buildings in the the Trinity of College, London, local the thirtieth, are stages of evolucongested quarters of the city, but that is merely an ideal which does not come within the sphere of practicality. ### REPAIRING CONCRETE ROADS.

Those annoying holes in concrete roads which have the habit of breaking the rear springs of unsuspecting automobiles, have at last been conquered by the Illinois State Highway Department. Here you see a machine devised by the department which fills in the depressions without tearing off the surface. It forces sand, water and cement through holes in the top, into the sunken spots, lifting them to the level of the road.

How can anyone with the slightest pretensions to knowledge suggest that every make and size of car should be run-in at exactly 20 miles per hour, and that the running-in process is complete in exact. y 500 miles?

How Much Testing is Actually Required.

The price of the car, too, enters machine one cannot hope for a road test, and 40 minutes' idling followed by a quarter of an hour under power is as much as one can ask in the way of engine testing, but on a £500 chassis one has the right to demand at least two hours' running-in, followed by an hour's power test and 50 miles on the road. In the £750 class I would expeet such a longthy road test that any care on the part of the owner would be more or less superfluous: I suppose that in my time I have and material foulding. Mix the oil run-in more cars than most men, and I have had my share of tests and competition work. After eighteen years of car driving and motor cycling I have come to the conclusion that it is not what a man does that matters but how he does it. One man will not exceed 20 m.p.h. for the first 500 miles, and despite this he will irreparably damage a car, while another on a similar out of all recognition.

As soon as the car was handed to me at the factory I started the en-"the and let it run free during the fifteen minutes while the formalties of delivery were completed. During the first 500 miles of its life on no occasion was the car started from cold and driven away before the engine had spent at least four minutes warming up to its work. And at no time was the engine forced when cold to such an extent into the question. On a cheap that it spat back through the carburetter, and one was compelled partially to close the strangler. You can do more damage in a mile to a cold engine than in 50 miles to an engine that has attained its

SPARKLING PICTURES ON DULL DAYS

You will see printed on any Kochk Film carton the word "Speed." This means that the film is fast and will make the most of the light. The light may be poor because the day is a dull one; or it may be a bright day, and yet the light admitted inside the camera is diminished because you have shortened the exposure in order to take a moving object Either way, the Kodak film, being "speedy," will make a plucky negative,

But be warned! Film which is "speedy," but has no "latitude," is dangerous. If you give It ever so little over-exposure, it turns hasty and the negative is flat, dull and unprintable. Kodak Film is "speedy," but it has that indeligent Clatitude" which allows you to over expose it and still get sparkling negatives.

For Brand New Super-Productions to be shown at CENTRAL THEATRE.

Starting with "BALACLAVA", an all dialogue British film based on historical facts about the Immortal Charge of the famous Light Brigade, showing on Tuesday, 16th June, there will follow a list of fatest super-productions of this year.

TABU:-A Paramount super-production just released. It's a picture of exquisite tropical beauty, the last work of that master of the screen, Murnau, director of "The Last Laugh," introducing a story of the South Seas, made with a native cast. It concludes with a veritable screen poem of tragedy.

PHANTOM of the OPERA:-A Universal 1931 Special. A mysterious "Talkie" with every players in full dialogue, except the leading man . . . , . LON CHANEY. ' It's the last of the man of shousand faces in filmdom.

RIGHT TO LOVE:-A 1931 Paramount super-production starring the sweet Miss Ruth Chatterton.

QUEEN HIGH:-Another 1931 Paramount production.

RESSURECTION:-A Universal 1931 all dialogue super-production. It betters the silent film of the past.

DRACULA:-Another Universal super-production. Superstition of yesterday may be a fact of the world of sience of to-day is explained in this picture. It's mysterious all through.

There are flenty of British, Chinese and American super-productions booked. Always watch our announcements for real good talking

BRITISH TRADE STATISTICS.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT IN MAY RECORDED.

VEHICLE EXPORTS.

London, June 12. Trade returns for the month of May show a slight increase in the value of exports as compared with those of April and March, but as compared with the returns for May of last year, heavy decreases in both imports and exports are recorded.

Imports for the month, valued at £69,600,000, were lower by over £21,000,000 than those of May of last year, and exports, valued at £39,600,000, showed a decrease of £20,000,000.

The reduction in values, owing to the worldwide slump, is to large extent responsible for the decreases. A algnificant feature of the figures is the considerable expanof exports of vehicles, including locomotives, motor-cars, ships and edly resign. aircraft, which has risen from £2,400,000 to £4,300,000. British Wireless.
